

Year-Round Services for Veterans in Solano County

The North Bay Stand Down is a three-day encampment for homeless and/or at-risk veterans and has been serving veterans since 2002. This year's event will be hosted on Oct. 14, 15 and 16 at the Dixon Mayfair.

Sponsored by Solano County's Health and Social Services Department, the event has served more than 2,200 vets, connecting them with local resources, including assistance with more than 1,700 court cases, the issue of 433 DMV ID cards and distribution of 23,000 pieces of clothing and bedding. Drawing vets from neighboring Yolo, Lake, Mendocino, Alameda, Contra Costa, Sacramento and San Francisco Counties, it takes an army of 5,000 volunteers help make this annual event a success.

Although veterans are provided with medical, dental, vision, housing, employment, recovery and other social services at the North Bay Stand Down event, it is important to note that veterans in Solano County have access to these services all year-round.

The Solano County Veterans Service office provides veterans and their families with a variety of programs and services relative to federal, state and local benefit programs based on military service. In addition to the services provided in our office, we connect veterans to other County services, including:

Child Support Services

Veteran's who need assistance with child support services, including requesting child support and medical orders from the court, enforcing child support orders, modifying child support orders and enforcing spousal support orders in conjunction with child support are encouraged to visit www.solanocounty.com/dcsc or call (866) 901-3212.

Court Services – Veterans Treatment Services

Starting Sept. 24, the Solano County Courts will begin a Veterans Treatment Court that will be a hybrid of drug and mental health courts. The court will use a drug court model to best serve the veteran population, connecting them with the drug, alcohol and rehabilitation programs they may need. Please call or visit the VA office for more information at (707) 784-6590.

Health Insurance, Food and Cash Assistance

Solano County's Health and Social Services Department administers various federal, state, and local government programs designed to provide health insurance, food assistance, and cash assistance for eligible low-income Solano County veterans. To apply for these programs visit www.solanocounty.com/depts/hss/ees or call (707) 784-8050.

Medical and Dental Screenings

The County's Family Health Services provides no and low cost health services to Solano County residents and veterans who are uninsured or have Medi-Cal coverage. More information is available by calling (707) 469-4640.

Women's and Children's Services
